Outreach Plan

Introduction
Montague County is in northern Texas approximately 60 miles north of Fort Worth and south of Wichita Falls. Bowie is an incorporated community on U.S. Highways 81 and 287 and is the southernmost town in the county. The town is fifteen miles southwest of Montague, the county seat.

In 1882, when the tracks of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway were built through the area, local settlers who had been there since the early 1860s moved to the site of the construction camps, and soon businesses appeared in canvas tents. A town site was laid out on August 15, 1882, and residents applied for a post office to be named for James Bowie known for the Bowie knife and his defense of the Alamo.

On July 22, 1884, residents voted to incorporate the new town. Bowie became a market and financial center for farmers and ranchers between Fort Worth and Wichita Falls. By the late 1980s the town reported 5,818 residents and 160 businesses. By then Bowie was the largest town in Montague County. In 1990 its population was 4,990, and it rose in 2000 to 5,219.

The library also has an on-going project to create a photo archive of local importance.

Some of the needs in the community include: lack of recreation or activities for teens other than school sports; large number of Senior citizens with special needs and who lack transportation; growing number of people who have limited English skills; lack of job opportunities; need for job search skills, resume writing, and interviewing skills, and lack of basic computer skills among various segments of the population.
Identified Assets
Assets in the community include: nursing home; 2 assisted living centers; hospital with rehab center; health clinic; pharmacy; Meals on Wheels; cable and satellite television; animal shelter; county extension office; truck stop; historical buildings such as the Heard’s Hardware Building; country club not far away; historic cistern where horses used to be watered; historical commission in the county; number of churches; day care/pre-K centers; veterinarians; animal hospitals; Dairy Queen; bakery; several fast food restaurants; Hospice Center, and Senior Citizen Center.

The Bowie Public Library would like to thank the Bowie City Council, Library Advisory Board, Friends of the Library, and City Manager for their support. The library would like to thank Rooter Brite for his support; Elsie Lacy, TAMU Agri-life Extension Agent for the many programs she has done for the library; Red River Master Gardeners for the library garden; Shannon Skiles, head of Main Street Bowie, and the Montague County Genealogy Society especially Francis and Milta Lindell. The library would like to thank the Robert & Ruby Priddy Charitable Trust for their financial support through the years.

Community Profile Narrative
Bowie is a family-oriented community. The local churches have regular meals for needy families and during the summer have Vacation Bible School. There are soccer leagues, baseball leagues, and a well-developed school athletic program. Frequently entire families come to the library together. Local festivals are family-oriented. Each December there is a Festival of Lights Parade.

Bowie's Second Monday is currently one of the largest flea markets on the North Texas Circuit with 452 large lots located on 5 acres. During the last weekend of June, Bowie comes alive with the festivities of Jim Bowie Days Festival and Rodeo. The nightly rodeo is one of the largest amateur rodeos in Texas. Daytime activities include: parades, games for young and old (such as frog jumping and turtle racing), a Rodeo Queen Contest, Bass Tournament, Quilt Show, Indian Artifact Show, Art Show and Car Show. The Annual Chicken and Bread Days Heritage Festival are held each October. Attendees can expect traditional favorites that include the Fiddler's Contest, Art Show and Competition, Pedal Tractor Pull, Quilt Show, and Piston Heads Auto Club Car Show. The festival grew out of a practice of selling chicken and bread to folks when the train stopped in Bowie.

The Police and Fire Stations are also within walking distance. The local grocery store is about a 5 minute drive from the library.

A challenge for the library is the distance to the local hospital, rehabilitation center, assisted living center, Senior Citizens Center, American Legion and Department of Protective Services. It is difficult for the library to serve this segment of the population.
